Stop Payment/Deletions, Reversal and Reclaim Request Reference Guide

This reference guide provides procedures for correcting either a debit or a credit transaction that was erroneously generated by your Agency. The type of request for correction (Stop Payment/Deletion, Reversal or Reclaim) will depend upon the processing state of the erroneous transaction, the type of transaction (either a debit or a credit), as well as the status of the Receiver. NOTICE: Effective November 1, 2008 the State Treasurer's Office will begin charging and collecting a $10.00 fee for handling a stop payment item on electronic warrant cancellations.

Stop Payment/Deletion

A Stop Payment/Deletion request is initiated by the originating Agency, then sent to the Office of State Finance (OSF), who then forwards it to the State Treasurer's Office (OST) and then sent to JPMorgan Chase for a credit transaction that has been transmitted to JPMC, but has not yet been released to the ACH network for further distribution to the Receiving Depository Financial Institution (RDFI) for posting to the Receiver's account. In this situation, the credit transaction is still in the JPMC ACH payment warehouse.

JPMC does not support a stop/delete for an ACH debit transaction. Follow the procedure below to initiate a Debit reversal.

Reversal

A Reversal request is initiated by the originating Agency, then sent to OSF, who then forwards it to OST and then forwarded to JPMC for a debit or a credit transaction. This transaction has been transmitted to JPMC and JPMC has released the transaction to the ACH network for further distribution to the RDFI for posting to the Receiver's account. In many cases, the transaction may have already posted to the Receiver's account.

Reclaim

A Reclaim request is a special type of Reversal request. It is used to correct a consumer credit transaction for pension, annuity or other benefit payments when the Receiver of the credit transaction is deceased.
